

Priceless Creations is owned and operated by Denise Giesbers. In 2005 a friend recommended her to a couple looking for a good but affordable wedding photographer. When her friend was asked why she recommended Denise she simply stated, "Denise's amateur photos of my wedding were better than my professional photographers!" Her friends words prompted Denise to change her status to professional.

Denise credits her passion for photography to her parents, especially her father. From the early age of 10 she would accompany him on his many outings to discover the endless possibilities of visual art in the form of photos.

"My father was a stickler for the little things. This attention to detail has stayed with me through my life. 'Fix the chain on the necklace or put the hair in place if it was sticking out.' These are words I live by."

"Denise brought a true personal touch to our wedding day!"

"Denise was wonderful. She made everyone have fun while taking pictures. Several people complimented her on how she was professional but did not make herself the center of attention like some photographers can do. I had a hard time choosing which pictures were my favorites, since all of them were so fantastic!!"
